

EcoRes Forum

Exploring the Ethical, Political and
Socio-Cultural Aspects of Climate Change

Seeking first to understand...

Online E-Conference

From Anthropocentrism to Ecocentrism: Making the Shift

14-30 April 2007

"Our challenge is to accelerate the needed change in thinking about our relationship to the environment in order to shift the pattern of our civilization to a new equilibrium — before the world's ecological system loses its current one." - Al Gore, Earth in the Balance

Join academics and activists, scientists and social critics, researchers and journalists, community leaders and concerned citizens from around the world in this unique dialogue as we look for answers and actions to make this paradigm shift a reality.

*Share your experience and let your voice be heard: Register today!

Topic 1: Setting the scene: Where are we now?

Topic 2: Looking to those who have gone before: Historical social movements

Topic 3: Making it real: Best practices & lessons learned

Topic 4: Moving on: Where do we go from here?

Register online at: www.eco-res.org